TRESTLEBOARD — JANUARY 2018

DESIGNS UPON THE TRESTLEBOARD

MASTER'S MESSAGE

WHAT IS YOUR LEGACY?

As a year comes to close and a new year begins, many of us look to improve our lives with various resolutions. As masons, we perpetually strive to improve ourselves to coincide with our motto "Making a Good Man Better". Polishing and honing a stone to perfection. Let us reflect on our past and look to the future with hope and unwavering optimism

What is your legacy? How would you want to be remembered? We are all placed here, not by chance, but for a divine purpose laid out by God. Our actions will imprint on the fabric of life for all to see during our lives and long after. Our legacy should be carefully crafted to represent our ideals and lifetime achievements. Not only should our legacy include some of the fundamental virtues such as honesty, integrity, dignity and others encouraged in our craft, it should include our contributions to humanity and positively transforming lives.

I challenge you to revisit, seek and pursue your passion to make your mark in this world through your efforts for a good cause or charity, and keeping the traditions of Freemasonry alive and well.

Look for divine inspiration from positive characters of your faith, or inspiration from the works of famous masons in history, or from the labors of current masons from our very own lodge, district or state, who work hard and tirelessly for great charitable causes and aid to protect and preserve traditions of Freemasonry that promote the craft. Endeavor to strive for a fulfilling life that contains an awe-inspiring legacy that would survive long after your life in this world, with incredible accomplishments to humanity, Freemasonry and your families. Make this your best year yet for yourselves and your families.

Furthermore, I want to express how humbled and honored I am that you have all allowed me to serve you as Worshipful Master this year. I appreciate your trust and encouragement and look forward to our journey together and working with all of you to make this a successful and impactful year for our lodge and craft.

Cordially & Fraternaly,
Nelson S. Saavedra
Worshipful Master
